Comments Report

2. Simon Jackson - Lecturer Focussed Questions -

- ^{2.4)} What aspects of this tutor's / lecturer's approach to teaching best helped your learning?
- Collaborative approach to learning taken during seminars. Constructive feedback provided for written work, enabling me to focus clearly on areas for improvement.
- Dr Jackson encourages in-depth discussion and is adept at steering conversation to central issues and themes, providing a useful framework for considering vague notions, such as 'globalization'. Over the period I have learnt to think about frameworks, grids and networks to useful effect. The selection of reading material has been excellent. I have enjoyed the overlap between module themes and specialist subject interests, and have received a good deal of support.
- Simon is excellent at promoting an atmosphere where everyone is listened to. He has a great skill of synthesising the material in a seminar and of extracting the relevant points for discussion. He is extremely approachable, and his advice pertinent. It has been extremely rewarding on a personal level for me to have studied under him.
- ^{2.5)} What could the tutor / lecturer have done differently to help you learn more effectively?
- It is difficult to recall items that could have been improved, except for Simon-due to other commitments had to miss a few seminars.
- Nothing springs to mind
